

Tips on filling out forms¹⁻²:

- Be accurate in diagnoses: exact terms or "nonspecific";
- Provide information on expected development and prognosis;
- Provide information on treatment supported by facts;
- Give detailed information, especially for the symptoms that may hinder professional functioning: severity, visible impacts;
- Detail the noted impairments: intensity, duration, frequency (e. g., concentration for less than 30 minutes, only 1 meal/day);
- Support objective data: follow-up on questionnaires from the patient's file;
- Avoid blank spaces: write "nil" or a stroke if necessary;
- One month at a time.
